THE NEW YORK LEDGER IS

the great Family Newspaper which monopolizes
the services of all the best writers in America. FANNY FERN does not write a line for any paper but the LEDGER. SYLVANUS COBE, Jr., also writes exclusively for it, and Mrs. Stoounker, Miss Gisson, Mrs.
Vatohan, and "all the rest of "em" constantly ex rich its pages. Every number of the LEDGER contains large and splendid engravings, illustrating the thrilling Tales of these pre-eminent writers; also, the Lavest
Fashions, and every other attraction which it is possible to give in a newspaper of eight large pages.

The Wherever there is a news oftce, the LEDGER can be bought every week as it comes out. It is also

VERY. PRENTICE'S APOLOGY FOR HIS ABOLITIONISM-ON

The editor of the Democrat has raked up extraction our biography of Mr. Clay, written and publish upwards of a quarter of a century ago, when we were citizen of New England, to show, not that we were favor of abolishing slavery, but that we then thought a very bat thing. Undoubtedly we did this thus of it; we had at that time seen no person thought, or seemed to think, differently. We were cated and brought up from childhood to regard slav as an evil wherever it existed, the opposite view of matter having never been presented to our mind. s an evil wherever it existed, the opposite view of traiter having never been presented to our mind. Vo not imagine that, a quarter of a century age, a mf any party or degree could be found in New Englar ho did not think of slavery what we said of it in tography we wrote. The subject of slavery was no fitteth part so well understood there at that time as it ow, and it is not very well understood there now. Vurselves, from thinking slavery under all circuitances an evil, have come to think it an evil in a nates where it is not required, and a good in the there it is.

HE MARES LIGHT OF THE PROVISO.

"WILMOT PROVISO.—" But in point of fact, the Wilmot proviso presents no difficulty, for it raises nr question. The question of Slavery to arise in the new territory acquired, does not appertain to the Genera Government, either in its treaty or law-making power. The territory, in regard to Slavery, will take and hold that character with which it comes within the boundary of the United States, until States of the Union are established therein, and then those States will determine the question of free or slave labor. When Louisians and Texas were annexed, Slavery was lawful, and the institution continued. In other territory in which new States have been formed Slavery did not exist, and therefore Slavery was not legal there while the territor y was under the jurisdiction of the Union, and it has not been established by those States since their admission into the Union. In the territory now to be an quirred in Mexico Slavery does not exist, and, by the Against FRED. "But already we perceive in every part of the country indications that the question under consideration is rapidly assuming to all eyes its true dimensions. It begins now to appear that it is not a death-struggle between the North and South for supremacy—that their tranquility is really not disturbed or endangered any more than it was by a bill creating a Territorial government in Oregon, or in any other sense than it would be by the introduction of a new Free State Morth of Missouri, or the abolition of Slavery North, or the abolition of Slavery North, or the abolition of Slavery worth, or the abolition of Slavery in Delaware and Maryland."

They have submitted to such surender of their own views for the sake of harmony and he success of the party. The South has always main-ained an uncompromising attitude, and declared itself nawilling to make any sacrifices for the sake of the party. In the Convention of 1844, the Southern delerates required the sacrifice of Mr. Van Buren, whose riends composed a majority of the members of the Convention. The South was stubborn on the point, and the North, after a little restlessness on the subject, submitted, and Van Buren was thrown overboard. Fairness would require that the Southern delegates thould sacrifice their predilections in the Convention his year, but Alabama and Virginia have, in advance, lectared they will not do so, and have further said that of the Northern delegates will not do their bidding, they will rebel against the nomination. They have stopped and robbed nearly every train that has passed, and have fired into one train, wounding one man mortally and an other very severely. These Indians have for a long time been the scourge of this road, robbing nurdering and insulting all who pass. They have disobeyed Gen. Harney's orders in coming int this country to fight the Pawnees." X.

FORT KEARNY, June 10, 1856. "Again I write in a hurry, to say that this wening a band of Cheyennes came into the Fort. As I wrote you the other day, these Indians have been committing depredations all along this road for weeks. There is also in the hospital here, a roung man whom they shot some distance below, and who will die without doubt. Under these ircumstances, Capt. Wharton, the commanding officer, determined to keep two of them as host-ages, and after a long talk, they decided which should remain. While they were being carried to he guard house one Indian dodged and ran with This was the signal for a general volley, which was directed at the several Indians, who were running a different direction. There is no doubt but that two Indians are mortally wounded, perhaps dead.
The Cheyennes at once mounted and succeeded in getting the wounded on horses, when they went a mile or two and commenc soon as the first gun was fired, the whole band, some forty, shot at a man who was passing their amp (which was just outside of the garrison)

Flags and Transparencies. The Fourth of July-the birth-day of our country-is rapidly approaching, and will doubtless be celebrated in a becoming manner by all York on the 15th inst, in good condition consider. our citizens. The American flag should float from ing the length of the voyage. It will probably the house tops, and national airs should swell upon every breeze. And in this connection we may mention that we have just been shown some of the largest and finest flags and transparencies we have ever seen, gotten up especially for this approaching anniversary, and at prices so low as to cast a doubt upon the patriotism of any and every man who does not illuminate and decorate his dwelling on that over memorable day. They were printed at the Cincinnati Enquirer office, the only office in the Union which gets them up on so enlarged and elegant a scale, and will be offered to our citizens to-day by the Agent, Mr. J. McManus. We may say, that in the event he should not see all our change Hotel, will receive prompt attention.

Persons desirous of showing their patriotism on the Fourth, can see a few of the flags and transparencies by calling at this office.

The President to-day communicated to the Sente, in response to a resolution, a copy of the in-tructions of Buchanan, late Minister to England, on the subject of the invitation to the British vernment to enter into a treaty similar to that etween Russia and the United States, recognising the principle in favor of poutral commerce, that ree ships makes free goods-contraband of war -and that the goods of a friend capture on board the vessel of an enemy, with the like xception, shall not be subject to confiscation; and rthermore, that the parties shall apply these rinciples to the commerce and navigation of all uch powers and States as shall consent to adopt nem as permanent and immutable.

Mr. Marcy, among other things, says France was likewise invited to enter into a similar treaty, and that he apprehended no serious objections, except-ing from Britain; and but for her resistence to the rinciple that the neutral flag protects the pro-erty which it covers. If it be not contraband of war it would long ago have been rendered a well stablished rule of international law. She has implicitly admitted its justice by adopting it as the guide of her conduct in the present war with ussia. If it is fair toward neutrals to act upon now it will be difficult for her to devise good essons for not observing it in all future years. In presenting this subject to Lord Clarendhn, argust 30th, 1855, Mr. Buchanan says it is carcely necessary to observe the present proposal does not proceed from any apprehension that Great Britain will ever hereafter reverse the procedent she has so recently established.
